DEDICATION

The Class of 1985 is proud to dedicate Schola 85' to Mr. Walter Ridlon. As a former student at Gorham High School, Mr. Ridlon earned the respect of his peers and educators. Now, as a teacher, he has given, as well as received, great respect to and from the students at Gorham High School.

Mr. Ridlon has been a teacher at Gorham High School for fifteen years. His teaching has included such courses as Math, English, Science, History, and Psychology. He is responsible for starting Project Adventure, a unique club open to all students. He has also been involved with our sports program as a coach of Boy's Basketball, Boy's Track, and, most recently, as Freshmen Boy's Basketball coach, leading his team to a undefeated season.

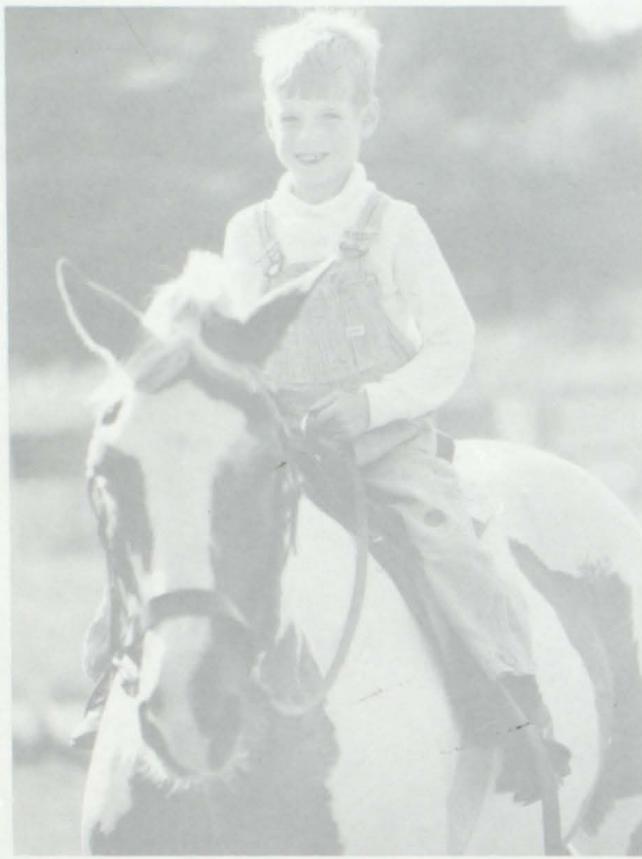

We, the Class of 1985, dedicate this book to thank him for his time, his caring, and his friendship.

IN MEMORY OF

In 1984 Gorham High School lost two very special people. Their absence has left two empty spaces in the hearts of many but we fondly remember them now through this page. Mark Allen and Terry Duran were here such a short time but they will be missed for a long time.

I LIVED FOR HIM.
I DIED WITH HIM.
I AM WITH HIM MY LORD.

MARK BRIEN ALLEN
HE WANTED HIS LIFE TO COUNT FOR SOMETHING.
IT DID. HE TAUGHT US HOW TO LOVE UNSELFISHLY.

HE LOVED TO FISH AND TRAP. HE LOVED THE FRESH AIR. HE SAID WHEN HE GOT TO HEAVEN HE WOULD HAVE THE LUNGS OF AN ATHLETE. HIS MOM

MARK BRIAN ALLEN

On Friday, August 10, our class lost one very special person. But Mark Allen was more than special, he was unique. He had no enemies, none of us spoke bad of him. Instead we laughed with him. Squeaky made us all laugh at one time or another. I was one of the fortunate ones to know Squeaky since kindergarten, even then he made us laugh. You couldn't help but laugh at Mark's jokes, most of them unintended and so spontaneous. We all enjoyed having him around. I remember people's disappointment when he left Gorham in the 7th grade. I remember the smiles we shared when Mark returned as a freshman at Gorham. He had not lost his magic touch to make people smile. And now, even though he's gone, his magic touch still remains with us that knew him. One can't help but remember his unique laugh. He would turn red from laughing so hard, remember? And who else could have accepted the nickname "Squeaky" with pride because of an incident in his six grade class. Only Mark could have brought so many smiles to so many of us in his short time. When we think of him, the least we can do is to return one of those smiles he gave to us.

MARI LEIGHTON

Rainbow Angel

Ode to you precious rainbow, delicate angle.
Your bold colors melt through the sky leaving all absorbed within the question "Why"?

The rain has dried
Your life past by quicker than the wink of an eye.
Oh!
You never said,
"Goodbye".

My heart sheds a tear,
How can we all not live with fear.
The fear of knowing evil is here;
Along with its peers.
The fear that people are retaining to free their ears.
Refusing to listen to love songs of a rainbow's
dear elegant cheers.

Together and forever you are now one.
The pure positive rainbow of the new rising sun.
Your soul is cleansed infinitely in the new found sun.
Your colors flowed with good.
As you faded from a world where good is never fully understood.

Your orange is so young and full of daring and unaware
In a world unfair.
A world which evil shares with violence which bears.

Your purple,
it hazes proud.
As it bridges over the clouds
Your blue
Your blue, was often sad.
But never felt the part which was bad.
All these colors you never knew you had,
so now they've faded and left all good sad.

Now you're gone.
Your conscience shall forever go on, we'll never forget when you faded away on that long, warm summer day when all went wrong.

When I do see a rainbow, bold as love I will fully understand.
We love you,
We miss you.
God bless you Terry Duran

To Lucia, Maria Cristina, Mauricio,
How quickly the time has passed!
Last year at this time, we were looking at your pictures, and preparing for your arrival. Now it's almost time to say goodbye ...

You have given so much pleasure to those of us who have come to know you. Each day we have had the joy of hearing you speak just a little more English, until now you are comfortable with any situation, any class, any group of students.

You will never be the same person you were when you first came to America. You challenged yourselves to leave your home, families, and friends to come to a place you couldn't even find on the map! You have met that challenge bravely and well. You should be proud of your accomplishments, for we know that it was not always easy.

You will be missed, but never forgotten.
Those of us who love you hope that you will remember us too

Siempre en mi corazon,
Mrs. Roy

Really, I'm very happy to have traveled to Maine to learn English.

No words could express the luck that I have had to know you people and I can not express my thanks for the large amount of support that I have been given.

I will always have a place in my heart, in my mind, and in my memory for this school and its people. I will never forget all these months, Gorham High School, and the Class of '85.

Thank you.

Lucia Del C. Segura G
Exchange Student from Mexico

To all Gorham High Students and Teachers:

When I first came to this country, and especially this school, my first feelings to myself were that I was going to have a wonderful experience, sharing with the students and teachers and learning English.

I want to thank all of you because you helped me a lot in my first difficult days here. I will never forget you for all the nice things you have done for me. Plus, I'll come back someday and I want to tell you guys that I would like to meet again the people whom I'll always love.

Don't forget me, Dudes.
Maurice Rodriguez
Costa Rica

My Dear Gorham High School.

I really don't have words to thank you and to explain what you have meant to me. I feel love, thankfulness, and friendship.

You have made this year one of the most wonderful years in my life. I will never forget what I've learned here. The walls of this school and its people watched me pass through them and helped me understand. I have learned not only your nice language, your culture and your traditions but also how to grow a little more as a person, to resolve my own problems, and to realize life is wonderful with people like you around me.

Dear family thank you very much for being with me in all moments, both in happiness and sadness for giving me a place to live, with love and all the nice feelings and things that are to numerous to count.

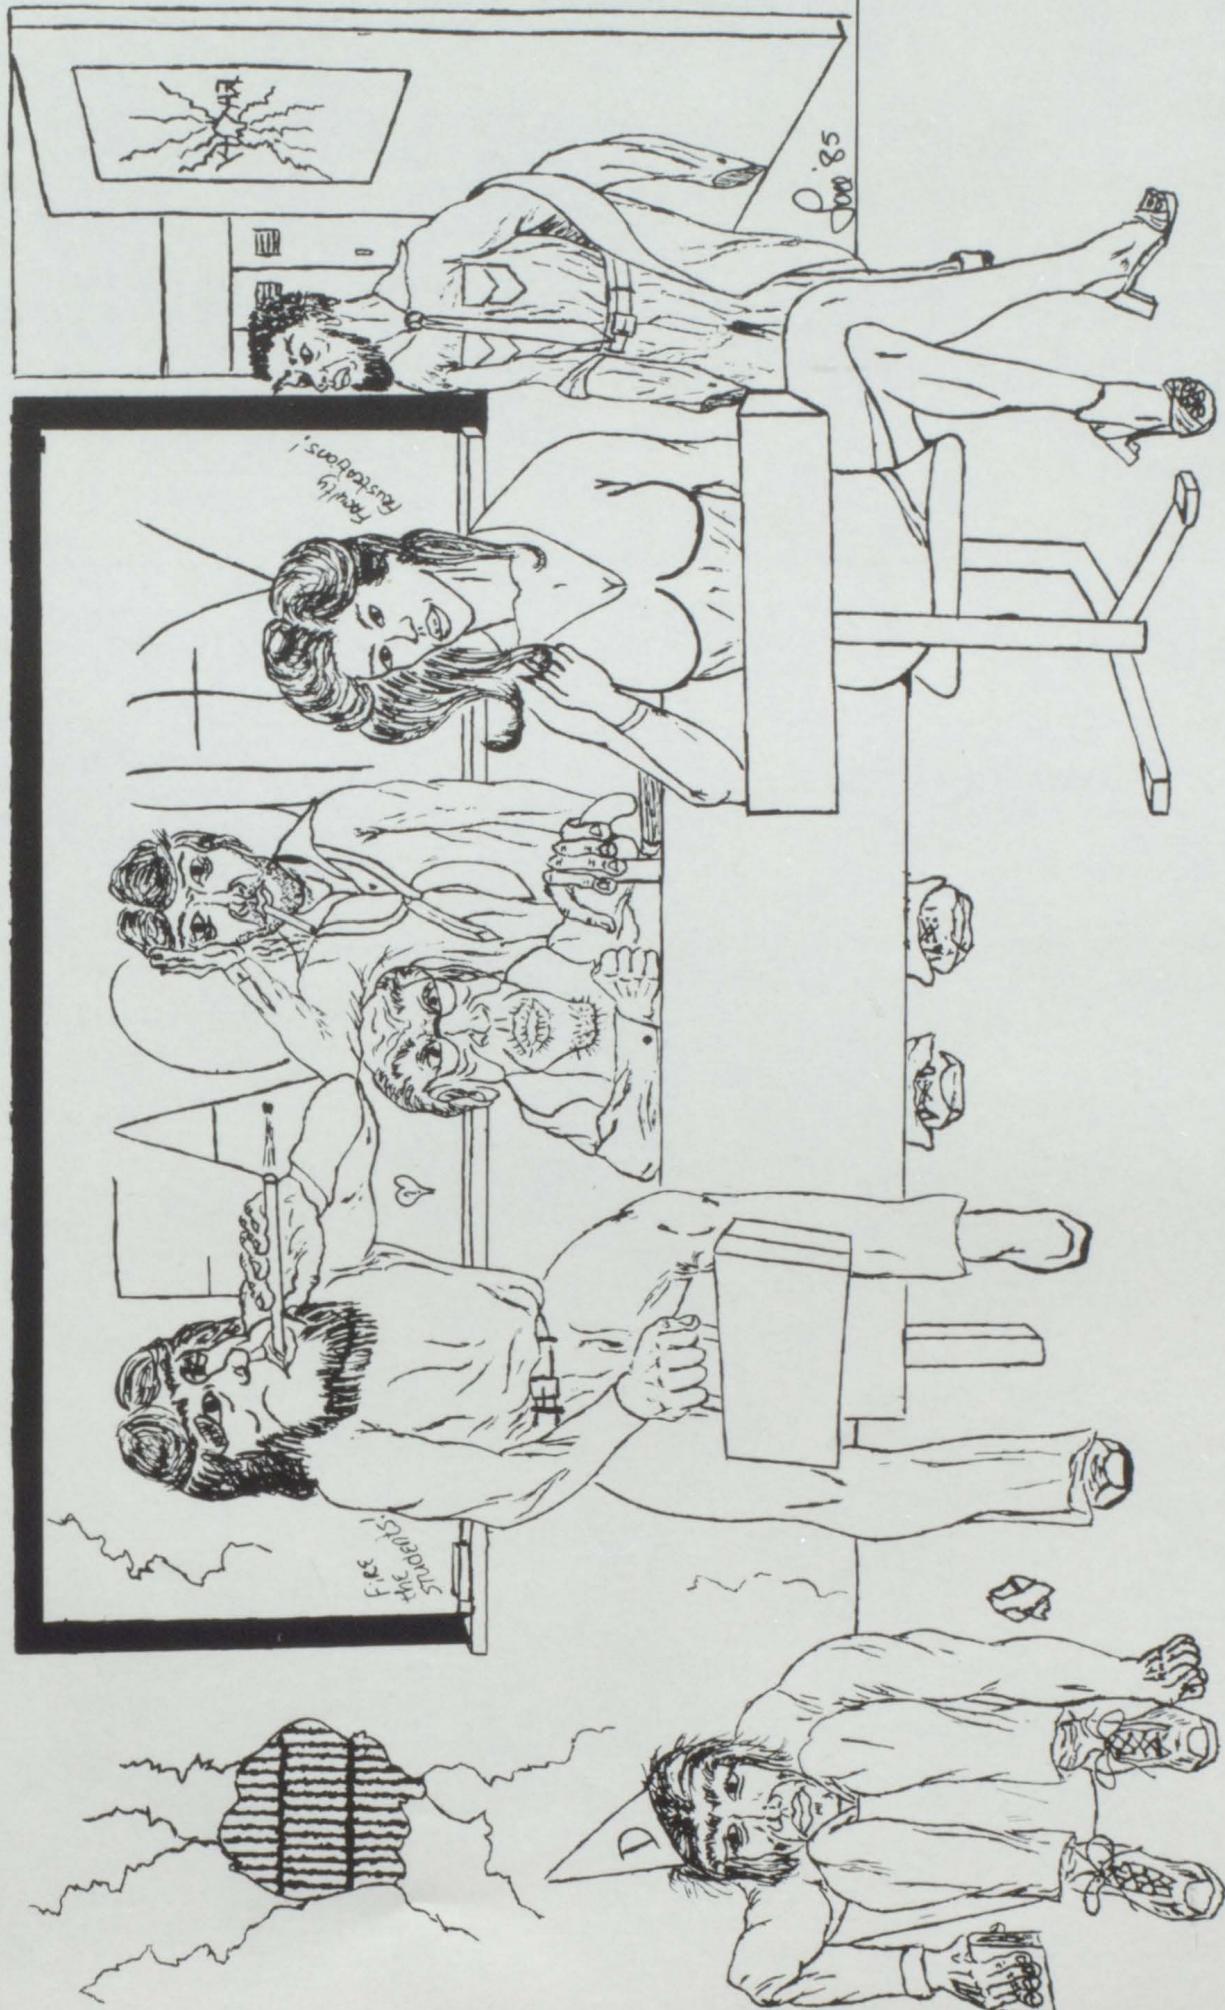

You really were for me my parents, my sisters, and my brother.

Dear teachers, thank you for everything that you have taught me. It is one thing that will help me in each road of my life. You were for me friends, great people that I always will admire for what you are, my teachers.

Dear friends, thank you for being with me in all moments, happiness, sadness, it's wonderful to know that in your hearts I can find the nicest feelings, desire to do something for this world, the desire to learn more and more.

I want to invite you to my country, the arms of our people are always open.

Love always Cristina

DEAR UNDERCLASSMEN

I welcome you to gorham High School. I'm line don't high like A cool. "If you think you're cool!"
STAY HERE A YEAR THEN SHOW ME YOUR COOL.

Hey, I'm in line don't high like A cool. "If you think you're cool!"
If you think you're cool!"

Then try extra credit outside twice ASCHUE!

So you think you're cool? Then try extra credit twice ASCHUE!
And hang out with people you like for a while.

Because you're not the only ones who like to hang out with people you like for a while.

Take it from me, you're not the only ones who just do what you like for a while.

House... you do don't escape the confine of grounds.
It shall always be a place where you can do what you like for a while.

Don't speak out to a cloud like that of a cloud, you're statement might tear like that of a cloud.

This little game is called GO.
If school rules don't take you like for a while.

First choose your eyes and choose your name.
Just speak out to a world like that of a world.

First choose your eyes and choose your name.
Just speak out to a world like that of a world.

Believe me, I know what it has been.
Don't all this advice is nothing but pure, choose carefully and correctly or you will not go very far.
so it's about time you all choose who you are,
choose carefully and correctly people.

You see... I'm outside, looking in. Dear Underclassmen

STATE FIELD HOCKEY 1984

I never did get a chance to read the article or headlines. I presume it had a big picture of our soccer team celebrating and the headlines reading "SINCLAIR BRINGS TITLE SOUTH".

With misty eyes, I tried to walk off the field. I can not believe all of the attention I am receiving. Now a T.V. reporter would like to talk to me. As I was making my way through the crowd I was asked to describe the goal, "As soon as the ball was deflected to me I heard the coach shout 9 seconds. At that time I realized this was going to be the last shot of regulation time. I knew what I had to do so I did it."

When I got home it was about 6:00. Mom was hurrying me in the door, she didn't want me to miss my big goal or comment on T.V. As I sat down I looked around and there were all sorts of signs my mom had put up for me when I got home. As I was waiting for the big news clip, my dad sat down beside me and told me how well I played along with the rest of the team. My mom was in the kitchen cooking my favorite meal. John, my brother, was looking for his soccer ball so we could play after dinner. It was the first time I had felt our family united, I wish that moment could have lasted forever. As I was sitting there I decided this would be my first day and that from now on I would spend time with my brother also I would obey my parents. And year round we all were going to be happy as a family. Finally it came on it sent a chill up my spine. I glanced at the clock and realized I had better get ready for the states party.

As I hopped into the shower I realized if I was going to obey my parents from now on I couldn't drink and especially drink and drive. I figured this was a once in a life time thing so I made an agreement with myself that I could do anything I wanted tonight but tomorrow I would start a new life. As I was on my way out the door I gave my mom a big hug something I had never done before. I told John I would play with him tomorrow, and promised to help dad rake leaves and chop wood.

As I was pulling out of the driveway I was questioning which I'd rather do spend time with my family or party. I talked myself out of staying home because I would have from tomorrow on with my family. When I pulled up to the party it was already rocking. I walked up and people came running up to me handing me beers and congratulating me with hugs and kisses. About 2 hours later I was trashed, time went by quickly and it was time for the party to break up. I shouldn't have been driving but I'd done it before and had no problem so I figured I could do it again. When I got on the main road I had the truck going as fast as it could. Two miles down the road I went around a corner and some idiot was driving on the wrong side of the road. As I swerved I then realized I was the one on the wrong side of the road. It was too late; I had already gone through the guardrail and down over a steep hill.

I was pronounced dead at the scene. They took me into the hospital for an autopsy, the cause of the accident was a blood alcohol level of .21.

That all happened a year ago, nothing has changed dramatically since my death. I often wonder why this had to happen just when I was going to change my life around. I was having the best day of my life. Everything was going to be perfect from then on. I hurt my family very deeply. Even now when John is in our old room he thinks back and starts crying. He owns many of the things I owned, Mom and Dad gave him the soccerball I scored with at the states game.

Mom and Dad are putting too much blame on themselves. I wish they wouldn't. It was not their fault at all. They had no idea at the problems I had, I hid them very well. They say a prayer everynight for me. I'm glad they do but it makes me break down and cry everytime. I put a lot of pressure on my dad. Now he has to play the role of an older brother and parent.

School has changed, students have cut down the amount of partying considerably. Also just as a rule between them they do not let anyone that has been drinking drive. The other thing that has changed is the soccer team. I understand that this year's team is playing in memory of me. They wear maroon arm bands with a number 12 on it. My old uniform will not be worn again until John plays then after his senior year it will be retired and given to the family.

I wish I could be back with you at GHS. I know I will see all of you again, it will just be awhile though. Until that day I see you again I encourage you not to drink. If you must drink do yourself and me a favor and do not drive. Yes, I would like to see you again soon but you have a life to live and do not realize how lucky you are.

CHILDREN OF PEACE

I am the child of peace,
here to construe.
I've come to spin and spread around a peace of mind,
and a whole lot of love to you,
and you.

Would you like to come along,
to help sing my little song?
"You can't go on thinking nothings wrong".
But first,
Are you a child of peace?
Have you been aware of the burden of despair,
or do you really care?

I, the child of peace, openly swear.

Did you know politicians are unsatisfied with children weeping saying,
"That's not fair"!
Well you know as well as I,
They're the ones that swear.
They don't realize that we must share not compare.

Peace and love is everywhere.

So let us all become children of peace.
Oh, Great Creator of beings,
let us not ever dwell within eternal grief.
Deliver us vast unlimited freedom, lead us to the light of peace.
Let this be on infinite power,
which we must all release.
Grant us knowledge to end the missiles of prevail.
We need not to experience the deadly delicate gales.
I have a life to sail,
a dream to trail.
Oh, please help us not to fail.

Peace and love must never fade.

Remember the home of the brave?
Let's not make excuses,
we're all afraid.
Especially that lucky man who made the grade.

We the children of peace must be saved!

I wonder with a discerning frown,
when everyones house is burning down,
and ashes of life penetrate the ground,
who will be around to confess to the world which drowns,
in agonizing sounds.
The evilest of evils will be found.
He will drift with a lonely crowd.

Then silouetted against the ugliest cloud,

Through our burning eyes,
we shall visualize,
with no great surprise,
an evil man nineteen miles high.
Fire glazes in his eyes,
his voice whispers an evil cry.

Vengence screams proud as he shouts aloud.
"We're tired and disgusted so we painted red through the skies".

We the children of peace will scream,
"Why", through the irritation of a cry.

On that day we shall all feel the sting of death.
Up in the clouds I'll imagine U.F.O.'s chuckling to themselves as they so intelligently suggest,
"Those people are so uptight, they sure know how to make a mess".

Children of peace,
forever they shall seek.
As for the rest,
May God hopefully bless.

1984

Once upon a time there was a class, a class of winners, a class of achievers. They entered the doors of High School a step ahead of the rest. They had the key. The key that opened the doors of understanding, of dedication, of life. They had it all. The best athletes, the best students, the best talent. It came easy to this class — effort was old, winning was young. Defeat was not in sight or in mind and creativity flowed.

They were a class of dreamers, a class of believers. They believed in the world, in future generations, and in themselves. They knew their limits yet weren't limited by them — they knew glory — they could make the difference. They were golden, as we are golden.

However this previous class of golden people did not share as winners, they turned their backs on the losers and in doing so lost the first piece of gold. They used their intelligence to further themselves, losing sight of future generations — they succeeded, and in doing so lost the second piece of gold. They grouped in fear of losing the last precious piece of gold, closing the doors of dedication, understanding and life — and then it was gone. The gold had turned to silver and the winners knew defeat — and there stood the losers, not mocking but crying, for the winners had had to withstand the loss, and the losers had lost the heroes they themselves had made.

We the Class of 1984 are golden. We have the chance to make a difference, the chance to share the wealth of our dreams and the chance to touch those around us with gold. We must share, we must love, and we must know humility.

We must have the courage to take the first and succeeding steps into the world — we must know what it is to live. For what is life without love, glory without the striving to win, or dedication without goal. The choice is ours, as our separate paths will show, but if you are content with this choice it is right, it is you, and you are living life.

I have often looked through this class of gold and seen unknown faces or acquaintances I had not taken the time to really know, to really talk to. Somehow it had been inconvenient or somehow just the wrong time, and they had slipped through my fingers like golden dust, never to be retrieved.

The lesson is a simple one: Realize the value of people around you — EVERYONE HAS SOMETHING TO OFFER — it just may take a touch of gold to find it.

Graduation Poem

There was a class with golden dreams,
They had the best of everything,
But lost it when they didn't share,
Or find a way to simply care.

They lost it all and so it seems,
They lost the gold — they lost the dream.

But we the Class of 84,
Have got the gold and what is more,
We know that we must share it with,
The others who may wish to live, With goal, content, and friendship true,
And so I'd like to say to you,
To share with all, share young and old,
Share your love, PASS ON THE GOLD.

Graduation Speach by N. Frye

I have two stories to tell you. The first is from a book by Dr. Seuss, author of such classics as The Cat in the Hat and How the Grinch Stole Christmas. Have you ever read The Butter Battle Book? It seems to be a simple children's book, but it's really much more. It has deep messages directed at all people. I'll introduce the story by reading the first few lines:

On the last day of summer, ten hours before fall ...
... my grandfather took me out to the wall.
For a while he stood silent.
Then finally he sad,
with a very sad shake of his very old head.

"As you know, on this side of the wall we are Yooks.
On the far other side of this wall live the Zooks."

Then my grandfather said,

"It's high time that you knew of the terribly horrible thing that Zooks do.

In every Zook house and in every Zook town

every Zook eats his bread with the butter side down!

"But we Yooks as you know,

when we breakfast or sup,

spread our bread." Grandpa said,

"with the butter side up.

That's the right, honest way!"

Grandpa gritted his teeth.

"So you can't trust a Zook who spreads bread underneath!

Every Zook must be watched!

He has kinks in his soul!

That's why, as a youth, I made watching my goal, watching Zooks for the Zook-Watching Border Patrol!

So, here we have two nations on opposite sides of the wall, the Zooks and the Yooks. The two nations are identical except in their philosophy about buttering bread. This disagreement on which side of the bread to butter leads to a great battle, a butter battle. Each nation has a staff of scientists inventing new and more devastating weapons until at last each nation makes the ultimate weapon, the big-boy boomeroo, as Seuss calls it, capable of blowing the Zooks clear to Sala-ma-goo. This weapon, about the size of an egg, could totally devastate the enemy. A delegate from the Zooks is sent to the wall with one of these boomeroops, and a delegate from the Yooks, the narrator's grandfather, is sent to the wall, also carrying a boomeroo. And at the end of the story, both stand on the wall holding this little bomb, ready to drop it on the other side.

"Grandpa!" I shouted. "Be careful! Oh, Gee!

Who's going to drop it?

Will you ...? Or will he ...?"

"Be patient," said Grandpa. "We'll see.

We will see ..."

The second story I have to tell was in a recent movie, which I'm sure a lot of you saw, War Games. It tells of a boy who taps into a government computer and plays a game called Global thermo-nuclear war, but the guys in Washington don't realize its a game. They think that the Russians are attacking. The boy eventually realizes what's going on and tries to stop the game, but the computer continues playing. The game does eventually end before the world is blown up. The computer analyzes the game Global thermo-nuclear war and predicts the outcome of every possible situation. It would predict what Russia would do under every possible circumstance and what the United States would do under every possible circumstance, and the computer concluded of the game global thermo nuclear war and I quote "A very interesting game, the only way to win such a game is to not play at all."

The two stories combined make a very important statement. The first story tells of what wars are fought for. Is it worth it to sacrifice millions of lives in order that every one will butter their bread in a certain way. Countries fight for reasons that just don't seem important enough to sacrifice lives over. There are alternatives to fighting.

The second story says that in such you just can't win.

So, it is our duty as the class of 84 to set people straight, to work toward a common goal of world peace in a peaceful manner. We've been together for four years. We've made it this far. We can do it. We can make a difference. The two stories I told you are very recent, but the idea goes back thousands of years. I'd like to end with a quote from Isaiah in the Bible:

They shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks;

nation shall not lift up sword against nation,

neither shall they learn war any more.

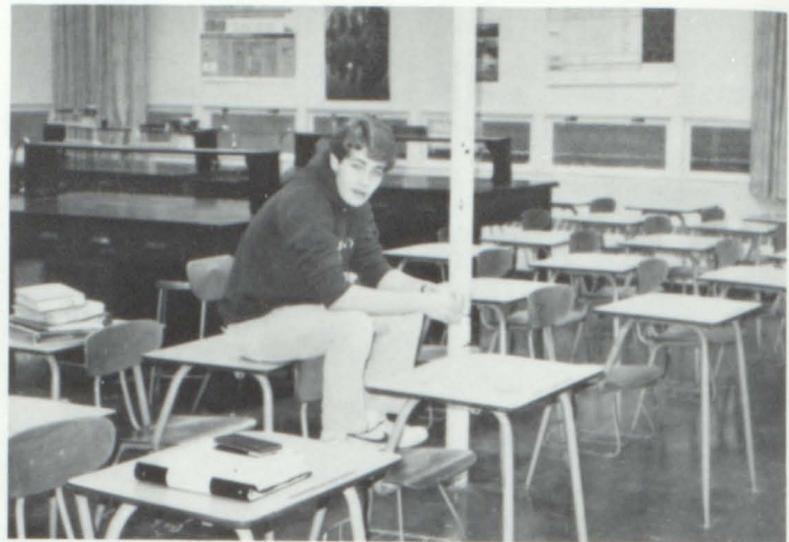

We can do it!

Friendships are forever;
Not leaving you in doubt.
A warm and special feeling;
That's what friendships about.
Not caring what others think;
Not caring what others say;
Just someone to be your friend;
In their own special way
